White hearten WAKING UP THE "NAGUR." An excellent joke is told of some wags at the McIntire House a few nights ago. We give it as we heard it. A gentleman of the Melisian persuasion, called late in the evening to stay all night. Being a stranger, he was made the victim of a practical Division in the Republican party," joke. One of the wags represented himself to be the clerk, and upon Pat saying that he wanted a room, and that he also wanted to be called for the 4 o'clock train in the morning, he was gravely informed that the only possible chance to accommodate him was with a lounge in a room occupied by the porter. Patdidn't like the idea of sleeping in the same room with a nagur, but one of thr conspirators fur-nished the darkey with the requisite stamps to treat once or twice, where upon Pat concluded he was pretty "cliver for a nagur, be dad," and that he guessed that he could stay in the same room with him for two or three hours," if the gintleman from Africa would stay out all the time, begorra."
so friend Pat was conducted into his room, perfectly unconscious of the fact that the proprietor and actual clerks knew nothing of the joke that was being played on him. Overcome with fatigue and swordfish, he soon fell into a sound sleep. His tormentors then went to work and blacked his face and hands in the most artistic style. At the proper hour he was called and repairing to the Depot na boarded the train. As soon as it became fully light, Pat happened to notice himself in the mirror. An explosion followed immediately. "Be jabers, where's the conductor?" shouted Pat. That gentleman at once put in an appearance. "Well, what is it you want?" enquired Billwhat is it? be dad. Why, sir, be jabers there has been a mistake made, sure. An' didn't I tell the clerk at the foliutire House to wake me up for the 4 o'clock train, and here he's went and waked up the nagur, while I'm there slapin as sound as a roach, and Dennis McCarthy is expectin' me to his weddin' the day. Stop the train and let me get off and I'll go back and give it to them swately for not wakenin' me." However, the train was not stopped .-Zanesville Signal. The novel scene was witnessed by all the members of the fleet, who greeted the strange performance with cheers and shouts of laughter.

MEAN TRICK.—Over in Knox coun ty, a few days ago, at the conclusion of the sermon, the preacher requested some one to pass around the hat and take up a collection. A young man a stranger in the place, jumped up and commenced "circulating the hat" in such a way as to fluish the job at the door, and pass out with the proceeds. The preacher, eyeing him as he went out, observed: If that young man runs away with that money, he'll be damned," A deacon sitting by the window, seeing him make off down the street, responded: "And if he hasn't run away with that money, Pli Druggists and Apothecaries, Main Stree Bavenus, O. THE Chicago Tribune (Radical manifests strong indignation because the Morehead Tariff bill is about to be rushed through Congress "by the representatives of special interest, aided by the bulk of the Southern carpet baggers." It declares it to be "a diabolical outrage on thirty mil-Lions of people." Just so long as these "thirty millions of people" shall send to Congress Republican politicians to represent them therein, they must expect, as an inevitable consequence, these if diabolical outrages."

To Young Men .- Don't rely or friends. Don't rely upon the name of your ancestors. Thousands have spoilt the prime of life in the vain hope of those whom they called friends; and thousands have starved because they have a rich father. Rely apona good name which is made by your own exertions; and know that better than the best friend you can have is inquestionable determination, synnited with decision of character.
